

*National Symposium on Entomology as a Science and
IPM as a Technology—The way forward
November 14-15, 2014*

Dear Entomologists!!

This is first circular on the National Symposium on “Entomology as a Science and IPM as a technology—The way forward”. The purpose of the symposium is to bring together all the fraternity of Entomologists who are engaged in research work at various National Institutes and Universities as well as the eminent scientists who have contributed their best to the cause of Entomology, to a common forum to interact and discuss on issues of national importance.

Focal Areas of the Symposium

- Biodiversity
- Emerging pests
- Physiology, Ecology & Toxicology
- Pest Control, Biological Control
- Eco friendly IPM
- Climate change

Scientific sessions of the symposium shall comprise of “Special lectures and Poster Presentations”. Invited Lectures on basic and applied aspects of entomological research covering the theme areas are being carefully selected by the Organizing Committee. All the original research contributions are to be presented as posters only.

Since the symposium is conducted for only two days, invited lectures are being arranged on the entire scope of the symposium which deals with several frontier areas like Transgenic crops, Biotechnology, Biodiversity, Natural Products and Climate change, only to mention a few. The response from the special invitees is overwhelming and we are sure that your presence as a delegate in the symposium would be a rewarding and learning experience, besides your own contribution.

Publication of Proceedings

The “Invited Lectures” as well as the “Extended Abstracts” of poster presentations will be published in the form of proceedings well in time. Equal importance will be given to the poster and oral presentations in tune with present trend in the international and national symposia. Extended abstracts will be rated as full length publications. Your promptness in sending the extended abstracts will help us to bring out the proceedings in time.

Extended Abstract of Poster Presentations

Extended abstracts based on original research work may be submitted press ready. The abstract (not exceeding 500 words or 2 pages) should have a title (capital and bold letter size 14) followed by the name of author(s) and address with email. The text should contain a brief introduction, material and methods and 2/3rd page result and discussion (without giving any sub headings) and a results table (with statistically analyzed data) and/or a figure/ graph. Photographs, if absolutely necessary must be enclosed as glossy prints of post-card size. The abstract should end with 2 to 3 relevant references. A soft copy of the Extended Abstract in A4 size in single line spacing, Times New Roman font, letter size 12 with 5 cm left and 3 cm right, top and bottom margin should be sent to, “Organizing Secretary” by e-mail on or before 15th October 2014 at the address vvr_ento@yahoo.com. The acceptance of the abstracts will be conveyed by e-mail. All those who submit their abstracts before 15-09-2014 will be allowed to pay the normal registration fee up to 05-10-2014. In any case, the abstract sent after 15-10-2014 (even with late fee) will not be included in the proceedings.

Guidelines for Poster Presentation

Posters of the extended abstracts must be brought ready for display. The display area allotted is 90cm wide and 120cm height and each poster must be contained within 85cm x 115cm (leaving 2.5cm border on all sides). The poster will be displayed by the presenter on the night preceding the specified day and the presenter should be available to present the same. It has to be removed the same evening to make the display arena available to the next set of poster presenters. Posters will be displayed on the board by Velcro or Push-pin (to be supplied by us).A full title and name(s) of authors along with address should be given at the top of the display as submitted for the proceedings. The font size should be legible from 1- 2m. Text, captions and figure legends should be of 18 – 24 point. Use a font that is easy to read, such as Arial. Graphs and tabular data should be of at least 24 point. To enhance visual impact, use selective highlighting of major points with bold letters or contrasting colors. Poster must correlate with details given in the extended abstract and use of space, flow of story line in an organized manner and coordination of figures with text, legibility of text, figures and legends. Be certain to address the significance of research, and why the results are important. Posters are not entirely the manuscripts you submitted as extended abstracts and hence limit the text to the essentials. Avoid excessive details in the text or complex graphs or tables with excessive numbers. Effective display is a series of brief statements and supporting illustrations (color photographs as blow ups) that tell a story. Posters should be self explanatory. Viewers must be able to understand the display in your absence also. Detailed explanations can be prepared as a hand out and copies of this can be made available.
